ADDRESS

Resident of October
Mr. John Rosychuk

John Rosychuk was honoured by friends and family, Thursday, September 29 as "Resident of the Month".

John Rosychuk was born in Downing, Alberta to parents who'd arrived in Canada from the Ukraine. He completed school to grade eleven at Dickybush School and grade twelve in Two Hills.

After school, John went to Edmonton where he trained at Normal to become a school teacher. He taught for one year at Thorhild.

From there, he held many positions in the lumber field from Bonnyville to St. Paul to managing for one and half years in Beauvallon.

One June 9, 1949 John Rosychuk married Helen Demchuk. They came to Elk Point in September 1950 where John worked for Hayward Lumber Co.

He switched jobs to work for McCabb and United Grain Growers. In 1970, he returned to school in Fort McMurray to become a carpenter. He worked as a carpenter until 1978 when he took ill. In fifteen months, John had seven operations.

John has four children and seven grandchildren. He has enjoyed many sports including curling and won the Grande Challenge against Marwayne in 1959.

Join us in saluting John Rosychuk as Elk Point's Resident of the Month.

On Friday, October 21, 1983, the Elk Point Municipal Hospital held their weekly Adventure Hour for the resident patients. Each week is something different.

For that particular Friday, patients received a real treat. Alice Zacharuk had asked John Pankiw to attend the hospital accompanied with his 'dulcimer'. He played many traditional Ukrainian songs to the enjoyment of everyone present.

LUCKY WINNER

Mr. Horace Osinchuk was presented with a mint coin set at the annual Credit Union Day, October 20, 1983 by Credit Union manager Larry Schmidt. The other lucky winner was Mrs. Roberta McGregor who was unavailable for pictures at the time.

Editor's Comment

Before you read any further, take a look at the Town's ad on Page Five. Why, you may wonder, does the newspaper want the Town of Elk Point to purchase subscriptions for the ratepayers in lieu of free advertising and possibly at a loss in advertising dollars to the paper. Well, it's not because we need $2,400.00 quick, in a lump sum. The reason is because of postal regulations.

Newspapers usually operate with a second class mailing permit. This allows them to mail addressed papers at a cheaper rate than the standard 32¢ or more depending on weight. To get a second class permit, a newspaper is required to prove that 50% of its papers are paid subscriptions. Until this is done, the permit is withheld.

The Review has been publishing 2,000 papers on a mass circulation basis free. The cost is high but we feel it is the only way to survive and maintain advertisers interest. If council were to approve the purchase of subscriptions, then the Review could apply for the permit immediately.

As it stands now, you the ratepayer could spend $8.00 for a subscription as well as having a portion of your tax dollars applied to advertising.

The benefits, should Council receive enough coupons, would be as follows:

1. Ratepayers would save money.
2. Town council would save money or at the very least break even; would have the distinction of assisting a new business in town; and would ensure ratepayers receive the advertising the Town would be purchasing anyway.
3. Lakeland Review would also save money in the way of postage savings.

So those are the benefits. Why then did council hesitate in making an immediate positive answer? I personally feel it is because they do not consider the Lakeland Review a local business and because Elk Point's history does not point to a newspaper's success. At the risk of being long winded, let me answer some of the concerns I've been faced with.

Lakeland Review's affiliation with Mannville Reflections

No one, unless idly rich, could open a newspaper in Elk Point without the backing of an already established newspaper. The Reflections' history should point to an even better chance of success for the Review. The Review may take awhile to improve but it is a vehicle to provide local news coverage even though the majority of local businesses do not support it through advertising. This may account for the Review's predecessors' lack of continuation. This affiliation is a benefit not something to be suspicious of. After all, were U.F.A., Macleods and the Credit Union accused of not being "local"?

I am not a local, obviously. But I may be some day. Certainly not until I see how the newspaper makes out. But this has not hindered the paper's community involvement. We've been in operation since September 21st and have purchased locally whenever possible. I am on the publicity committee of the Chamber along with Vicki Brooker. We've supported the school in it's upcoming awards night as well as the hospital's 'Resident of the Month' program. Not bad for a seven week period. Our plans involve more community involvement, improvement and growth. It should be mentioned here that the paper also supports three local jobs.

OK, your local - Why's there so much outside advertising?

Again, to depend on Elk Point's businesses alone would mean the end of any paper. Advertising is what pays for the paper; subscription charges barely pay for the cost of mailing them. Competition has never hurt anyone and has been going on since time began. It is interesting that these "outside" advertisers see the benefits of a newspaper.

Why Elk Point?

When John McGregor became manager at the print shop, he was questioned on numerous occasions as to whether the paper would also start up. For an Elk Point paper to struggle unaided was not a viable proposition. I was approached in Mannville. After visiting Elk Point, loving the countryside and seeing the possibilities for growth, I decided to try. So here we are.

I believe a weekly local paper should be the residents' vehicle to carry their news. It should be used to unite a town, not dwell on its differences. It should be used to bring out the good. If you want hard, cold facts about hard core news, buy the Journal. If you want a glimpse into the community you live in, support the Review.

It would have been nicer for us had we been accepted with open arms and less suspicion but after three papers, I suppose I can understand. And don't misunderstand me, the people who have offered their support have done so in a friendly, encourgaing way which makes our efforts seem more than worthwhile.

Now that you're armed with the information, I ask you to turn back to Page Five and indicate your view on the coupon provided by the Town. Should you require further information, please do not hesitate to contact Elk Point's Lakeland Review.

The following is a short poem which underlines our whole philosophy. With your support, we'll do it.

Somebody told him it couldn't be done
But he only smiled and replied
That maybe it couldn't but he'd be the one
Who wouldn't agree till he tried.
So he took off his coat and he buckled right in
And if he was worried, he hid it
And he started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done,
And he did it.

Kitchen Korner Kates

Meet our newest Kate, Debbie Kummetz. We hope you will join us in welcoming Debbie to Elk Point. Debbie joined us two weeks ago and would like to share two of her favorite recipes with you.

Easy Chicken Almond

2 Tbsp. butter
½ C cut celery
½ C bamboo shoots
¼ C sliced onions
2 C cooked chicken strips
1 can mushrooms (drained)
2 Tbsp. cornstarch
2 Tbsp. soy sauce
1 C chicken broth
1 C toasted almonds (halved)

Melt butter in skillet, add celery, onions and saute about 2-3 minutes. Add chicken and mushrooms, reduce heat and cook for 10 minutes covered. Blend cornstarch, soy sauce and broth, then gradually stir into chicken mixture. Cook until sauce thickens. Stir in almonds. Serve over rice.

Vegetable Stir-Fry

½ C cold water
1 tsp. cornstarch
2 Tbsp. soy sauce
½ C water
½ tsp. salt
2 medium carrots, sliced
1 C sliced cauliflower
2 Tbsp. cooking oil
1 clove garlic, minced
½ pound fresh asparagus, sliced into ½ inch lengths
1 medium zucchini, sliced
1 C sliced mushrooms

Blend ¼ C cold water and cornstarch; stir in soy sauce. Set aside. In saucepan bring ½ C water and the salt to boiling. Add carrots and cauliflower, cover and simmer for 2 minutes. Drain well. Preheat a wok or large skillet over high heat, add cooking oil. Stir fry garlic in hot oil for 30 seconds. Add asparagus, stir fry for 2 minutes. Add zucchini, carrots, cauliflower and stir fry for 2 minutes. Add mushrooms, stir fry for 1 minute more. Stir soy mixture again and add to wok, stir in vegetables. Cook and stir till bubbly. Make 6 servings.

HINT:

Before heating your fat, add a tablespoon of vinegar to it. Your food will not absorb as much oil, will be crisper and tastier.

Debbie

Garbage becoming unsightly

Elk Point Town Council had their attention drawn to the matter of local residents creating problems in carting their garbage to the new modified landfill site at their October 24, 1983 regular meeting.

Though it was not the most pressing issue for the new Council to deal with at their first regular session, it was one of concern. While the Town is responsible in general for most of the collection and transportation of garbage, many individuals from the Town and County cart refuse to the new site.

The manner in which residents transport the refuse to the landfill became the matter of concern for Council. The Town, by requirement of provincial law, must transport garbage in an enclosed vehicle. Most other individuals do not do so, though required by law, thus allowing boxes and debris to be flung on the road and ditches causing the current problem.

In an attempt to rectify the situation, Council is advising all residents that when transporting garbage to the landfill, please ensure that it is secured by a tarpolin or other means. Everyone's cooperation is being sought to end the accumulation of garbage in the ditches on the road to the landfill.

Should the situation not improve noticeably within the immediate future, then the Highway Patrol will be requested to take action and ticket everyone who is contravening the law and creating the problem. Hopefully, that is an unnecessary step to rectify this unacceptable situation.

Further Ed. News

Paper tole begins this week - the class is full to overflowing. However we will probably be running another paper tole class after Christmas.

Quilting begins November 7th, anyone interested please phone Edith Mitchell.

Elk Point & District Further Education council will be having a supper meeting on Wednesday, November 16. All council members are requested to attend.

Business of the Month

★ Graphica ★

Once a month, the Lakeland Review plans to randomly choose a business to do a feature story on. We may feel familiar with our home town businesses but often there are stories we know nothing about. The Review hopes to bring you that much closer to your local businesses and the people who run them.

Graphica is a company specializing in designing logos, planning company promotions, providing advice as to where, when and what to advertise, silk screen printing, outdoor signs, special occasion plaques and more. "If it stands still long enough," joked Hans Rohner, owner, "we'll print on it."

Rohner grew up in a world of printing. His father ran a commercial print shop in Switzerland where Hans was born. He received training in a Swiss art school, comparable to a Canadian University, and then apprenticed for four years with a large chain of department stores.

He first arrived in Canada in 1973 but returned to Switzerland to marry. In 1975, he returned to Alberta, a place which appeared to Rohner to have "lots of opportunities and elbow room" to work. He arrived in Elk Point in 1980, believing the area to be one which could and would develop. "I wanted to be part of that," he reflected.

In the spring of '83, construction of the bright, cheerful studio was completed. Rohner believes the barter system to be "the new way of doing business" and was able to arrange plumbing and electrical work for the studio in trade for his skills.

Also at work at Graphica is Roger Hache, originally from New Brunswick. Hache adds his years of experience to Graphica, finishing off this professional team.

was his best job or accomplishment, Rohner was hardpressed to answer. "Whenever we finish a job where we've helped a company in its promotion and we see it works," Rohner explained, "that's very fulfilling. We try our best with every job." If you'd like to see an example, watch for the beautifully illustrated Lakeland Tourist's promotional stickers, designed, of course, by Graphica.

And if, after all this, you still are doubtful whether Graphica's talents can assist you with the task you have at hand, give them a call and ask. They'll help you if they can.

Clandonald Awards Night

The Clandonald community turned out in force on Wednesday, October 26 to honour ten students during the Clandonald School's Junior High Awards night.

In between the presentations made by local businessmen and organizations, the students provided entertainment. The Elementary students sang "Raindrops are Falling on my Head" and "Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious". Leah Ann Grant and Shawn Convey, accompanied by their guitar teacher, Terry Bykowsky, provided music in the form of a guitar duet. Also accompanied by Mr. Bykowsky were Carol Lawrence, Sharmon Radesh, Lori West, Janice DeFord, and Caroline Yaceyko who sang the ever popular "Snowbird".

Ronald Throndson, Grade nine student, received the Highest Academic Standing trophy donated by the Knights of Columbus as well as a General Proficiency Award donated by D. and E. DeFord and a County Honour Pin presented by Roy Harback.

Grade eight student Sharon Thomas received the Highest Academic Standing trophy donated by Clandonald Groceries, a General Proficiency Award given by Ken's Service and a County Honour Pin presented by Roy Harback.

Highest Academic Standing trophy for Grade seven went to Tami Rewuski and was donated by Frank's Shell. Tami also received a General Proficiency Award donated by Clandonald Hardware and Roy Harback presented her with a County Honour Pin.

General Proficiency Awards donated by D. and E. DeFord, Ken's Service and Clandonald Hardware went to Anne Brodbin, Grade nine, Darrell Nowosad, Grade eight, and Philip Lawrence, Grade seven respectively.

The Clandonald Seed Cleaning Plant donated the prize for the most improved Junior High student, David Podhaniuk. Roy Harback also presented County Honour Pins to Grade seven, Philip Lawrence; Grade eight, Darrell Nowosad, Maria Protsch, Caroline Yaceyko, and Grade nine, Anne Brodbin.

Lakeland Review Subscriptions

Council has been approached by the new local newspaper as to whether or not council will purchase one year subscriptions for the ratepayers of Elk Point in exchange for free advertising, also for a period of one year.

The cost of subscriptions would be (approximately) 400 ratepayers times the discounted rate of $6.00 per subscription equaling $2,400.00. The Town of Elk Point's advertising account for a one year period would equal or exceed this amount.

Please complete the following coupon indicating whether or not your are in favour of council purchasing a one year subscription on your behalf to Elk Point's Lakeland Review and return it on or before November 10, 1983 to the town office.

No response will indicate your lack of interest and be entered as a negative reply.

YES ____ NO ____

Town Council should (not) authorize the purchase of a one year subscription to the local newspaper for ratepayers in lieu of equal or more than equal advertising dollars.

Remember

Remembrance Day, November 11th, will be observed in Elk Point with suitable ceremony.

All participating groups are invited to meet opposite the Hotel at 10:30 - 10:35 a.m. The Parade will form up shortly after that time.

The route for the Parade will be north to the Credit Union corner, west past the Post Office to George's Service and then south to the Cenotaph.

V.I.P.'s are requested to be in position in front of the Post Office. The program will commence shortly before 11:00 a.m., and will include the wreath-laying ceremony.

When the activities at the Cenotaph have been completed, the assembly will be invited to move into the Pioneer Circle for a non-denominational service. Lunch will be served at noon courtesy of the Legion and the ladies of the Pioneer Circle.

Clubs and Organizations that have not been approached by phone should please consider this an invitation to be involved in the Parade and other ceremonies. Attendance by interested members of the public, both adults and young people, is very much appreciated.

Hospital Harvest Supper

Once a month, the staff at the Hospital organize a special meal for the eight live-in patients and the long term patients. Up until now, these meals have been held outdoors in the form of picnics, with this supper being the first indoor meal. Ruth Labossiere and Mary Garnett-Bennett co-ordinated the affair.

Chris McFayden, Bev Beazley and Colleen McAleese planned and cooked the menu which consisted of soup, chicken, mashed potatoes, gravy, peas and carrots, dressing and salad followed by a fresh fruit medley for dessert.

The staff provided the wine and beer to accompany the meal, giving a festive atmosphere to the occasion.

The supper was served by Ruth Labossiere and Mary Garnett-Bennett. The table arrangements were supplied and crafted by Ruth Labossiere.

The eleven patients who attended the supper enjoyed themselves tremendously and expressed their appreciation to the staff and chefs.
